Greetings,

I am completely opposed to any alteration of Title II Net Neutrality as it is currently written.

Any change would be a blow to the 1st amendment; allowing corporations to charge for freedom of speech based on political, religious or any other conviction.

Additionally, it would be a potential deterrent to small business and any competitor of those in control of internet access if regulations governing Net Neutrality are changed.

What is proposed is purely a financial folly for corporations that provide internet access. Internet service must be equal and unrestricted. Internet service providers (wired or wireless) must be held to strict net neutrality standards back by Title II classification.

DO NOT ALTER NET NEUTRALITY!

All the best,

Patrick Duffy
